

The Follies Trust invites you to a talk by Nicholas Robinson

LANDMARKS AND LANDMARKERS:

The Work of the Irish Landmark Trust.

In the Irish Architectural Archive, 45 Merrion Square, Dublin 2

at 6pm on Tuesday 23 February 2016

Nicholas Robinson, a founder and first chairman of the Irish Landmark Trust, is currently president of the Trust. He has served on various conservation boards over the past forty years and, with Edward McParland, was co-founder of the Irish Architectural Archive in 1976. His publications include Vanishing Country Houses of Ireland (with David Griffin and the Knight of Glin) and Edmund Burke: a Life in Caricature. An honorary Member of the RIAI, he was awarded an honorary doctorate by NUI.

There will be no charge for this talk and no pre-booking is required but donations to the work of the Follies Trust will be much appreciated.
